

January 26, 2009- Diane Boylan Joins MCG Partners As Senior Associate

A leader in the world of executive coaching, leadership development, talent management, and sales training, MCG Partners continues to expand its presence and team in this fast-growing area of need in the marketplace.

MCG Partners, a premier management consulting firm, announced today that Diane Boylan of Plymouth, MA, has joined the firm as a Senior Associate. Diane brings over 20 years of extensive experience as a management consultant, corporate executive, and financial professional.

"In joining MCG Partners, I'll be partnering with one of the strongest teams in the coaching, leadership and talent industry, combining my passion and expertise for developing leaders and businesses, with their record for high impact and results-oriented solutions", said Diane.

Before joining MCG Partners, Diane spent 8 years providing leadership development, organizational change, individual and organizational performance improvement, and strategy coaching. Diane is a highly skilled career coach who works with her clients on career development and transitions, and issues that have demonstrable value to the organization.

Previously, Diane was a senior manager at Deloitte Consulting in Boston where she was responsible for leading project teams in diagnosis, solution development, and implementation for several of Deloitte's largest financial services clients including Prudential, Sun Life of Canada, and John Hancock. Diane's primary area of focus was enterprise transformation, including business process redesign and change leadership. Beforehand, she held several positions at MetLife, a Fortune 50 global financial service organization. As Vice-President, Diane led an enterprise-wide project to reengineer the Company's entire financial accounting and reporting process. Prior to that role, Diane was selected to be MetLife's first International Controller. In that capacity she successfully oversaw the financial management and reporting of the Company's operations in Canada, Mexico, Europe, and the Far East. Diane's first professional position was as a CPA and auditor for KPMG in New Jersey.

Diane received her MBA at Columbia University through their Executive MBA Program while working full-time at MetLife. She graduated cum laude with a BS in Business Administration from Montclair State College.

"We are very excited that Diane has chosen to join us," said Chuck Mollor, MCG Partners' Managing Partner. "She has practiced and successfully addressed many of the issues that her clients face", Chuck Mollor states, "Her blended experience and skills as a business leader, consultant, and coach will be invaluable to us in helping our clients execute by addressing their gaps in leadership, talent, performance, sales, and organizational effectiveness".

For more information or to schedule an interview with Diane Boylan, contact Chuck Mollor at (508) 279-0400 or e-mail chuck.mollor@mcgpartners.net.